Why Is Crime Without Punishment Okay?

I have to wonder what kind of upbringing kids are getting these days. Perhaps the parents overlook or dismiss bad behavior in early childhood because they are too busy at work or have a crowded social life. First, it might be tattling on your sibling, then stealing some small item, then a fight at school. Maybe they get all the way to high school by escalating their actions just a little at a time. One thing is certain; if this goes on long enough, the behaviors will escalate to the point where punishment MUST be handed down.

My big brother was four years older than I; my little brother is four years younger. I learned early not to steal. One day I took a nickel from my Mom's purse, walked up to the grocery store, and bought myself a candy bar. Someone told. The disappointment in my Dad's eyes hurt worse than whatever the penance was. This happened 70-plus years ago, and I still remember the scene vividly. I learned my lesson.

Fast forward to today. 10 teens attacked a young DOGE worker who tried to protect his girlfriend during a car jacking. Posting on X, @thechosenorca said: "When these teens commit more crimes while out on "rehabilitation" Judge Briggs should be held liable for the crimes committed. If she's so confident about the rehabilitation of the teens she should have to sign for their release and future crimes." I couldn't agree more. No one should commit a crime, be found guilty, and walk out the door. Unsurprisingly, the number of crimes committed by juveniles has gone down. Could this be because they aren't held accountable? How will they learn if bad behavior isn't called out?

I'm trying to figure out the mind set of Judge Briggs, who seems to accept that bloodying someone during the commission of a crime is okay. I wonder what she would do if those 10 teenage criminals showed up in her driveway, attacked her family, and got off with probation.

Let's examine the same story on the world stage. obama and biden had eight years to deal with the Middle East, and gave billion$ to Iran, perhaps thinking everybody would be nice to each other. That was not the case and never could be. October 7th is a date no one from that area of the world will ever forget because Iran is the largest sponsor of terror the world has ever seen.

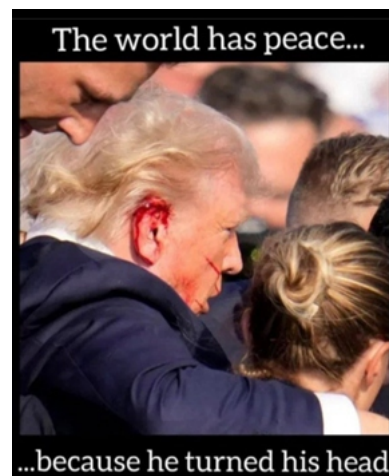

After decades of war, Trump brings peace to the Middle East, and everybody involved signs the deal. Israel returns hostages/criminals. Within days, Hamas is executing people in public. They have not returned all the hostages or their bodies as agreed. The stories from those held by Hamas are waaay past heartbreaking; they are inhumane. Would someone like Judge Briggs just tell Hamas they're being naughty, slap their wrists with probation, and let things be?

Hamas has demonstrated to the world that they have no intention to abide by the document it signed. Personally, I never thought they would. They have been given a tremendous opportunity to learn to exist peacefully with their neighbors, whether they like them or not. Apparently, they don't understand President Trump's amazing ability to negotiate practically anything. I believe he feels as I do, "there is no rehabilitation without punishment." Hamas crossed the line. President Trump responded: "If Hamas continues to kill people in Gaza, which was not the Deal, we will have no choice but to go in and kill them." Sometimes just the threat of punishment works. Other times the actual punishment has to be severe. By their actions they will choose. Thank God Trump understands the difference and will act accordingly. God bless Donald J. Trump.

President's Message

Dear Patriots,

What you are about to read was a letter to the editor to TheEpochTimes.com. It is a short window that God is providing us to wake up and start attending to our soul-searching responsibilities. How many other "good" people would you want for our Lord to take home to wake us up?

Our recent "win" in GAZA shall also be short lived. Sadly in my many years on this planet I've seen too much to accept what is taken place as a "FINAL RESOLUTION" in the MidEast. These two, Muslims/Jews, have been at it for a millennia! We must constantly stay vigilant as to what is happening around us, like brainwashing our children so they run around with Gaza Garb around their shoulders screaming for the death of Israel and America's way of life. Read on. God bless.

Reflections on Assassinations

I have seen many things, from tales of cabbages and kings, to murders and other bad things. Mahatma Gandhi was murdered in 1948; two Puerto Rican nationalists attempted to assassinate President Harry Truman in 1950; President John F. Kennedy was shot by person or persons unknown in 1963; Malcom X was murdered in the Audubon Ballroom in New York City while giving a speech in 1965; RFK and MLK were assassinated in 1968; President Gerald Ford survived two attempts upon his life 17 days apart in 1975; John Lennon was murdered in 1980; President Ronald Reagan was wounded by John Hinckley in 1981; candidate for the U.S. presidency Donald Trump was shot at eight times in July 2024 during a speech to thousands of supporters, with one bullet almost killing him; other attempts on his life have also been foiled.

But never have I witnessed, in the aftermath of any of these huge events, the worldwide outpouring of grief, sadness, and regret that has been occasioned by the murder of Charlie Kirk. World leaders, and thank goodness ours included, gathered near Phoenix to celebrate his life and legacy—a legacy that will perhaps be of even greater impact on world events, and their trajectory, now that he has been martyred. Tens of thousands of schools have applied to join Turning Point since Charlie's murder.

There is righteous indignation in the land now, more even than after 9/11. This is no exaggeration. People are simply fed up with the insanity and violence inflicted upon us by the lunatics on the left. President Trump has just designated Antifa a terrorist organization.

He is sending National Guard troops to crime-infested blue cities. The orgy of destruction, which had been on hiatus for a while, until the death of George Floyd revived it, will no longer be tolerated. And thanks to Charlie Kirk, America's young people, nay, the civilized world's youth, may save our sorry butts after all.

God bless him.

The Bright Report

The City of Ormond Beach appears to have a lot of inherited flaws throughout. This month, let's first look at the timing and frequency of our elected officials. The city has elections every two years for all four commissioners and the mayor. This in itself can create many issues, a learning curve, the time frame in which to get things done, and the capability for the bureaucracy to run the show instead of our elected officials, just to name a few.

There are ways to solve a lot of these problems. One is to elect each commissioner to a term of four years. Commissioners from even-numbered zones shall be elected in years the numbers of which are multiples of four. Commissioners from odd-numbered zones shall be elected in years the numbers of which are not multiples of four. As an exception, at the election following redistricting, all zones shall elect commissioners, and the zones not otherwise scheduled herein for election shall elect commissioners for two-year terms. The mayor shall be elected for a term of four years, in which the numbers are multiples of four. No person may appear on the ballot for re-election as a zone commissioner, or mayor if by the end of the current term of office, the person will have served (or, but for resignation, would have served) in that office for eight consecutive years. This methodology seems to work well for Volusia County.

The other issue to discuss this month is the timing in which the city puts out the minutes and the audio of the commission workshops. NONE OF THESE WORKSHOPS MINUTES WERE MADE AVAILABLE UNTIL THE BUDGET WAS APPROVED!

The results of a lot of these workshops were used as the reason to raise our taxes. The Goal Setting Workshop was even referenced in RESOLUTION NO. 2025-121 these updates are set forth in the 2025 Strategic Plan.

The week of Oct 12th the City of Ormond Beach has finally posted the minutes for 7 of the 9 workshops to the website; but they HAVE NOT BEEN APPROVED! If they did not need to be approved, why did it take the city so long to post to the website??? There are workshops going back to April 1st, and one used as a resolution for our 2025 strategic plan. Which in turn, was one of the reasons for our increased property taxes.

Let us remember, if you want to hear the audio from the workshops, you must do a FOIA request. The regular commission meetings are posted to the website in a timely fashion, but the workshops are not; for those you must make a formal request!

Posted but not approved:

- Public Art Workshop (April 1)
- Stormwater Workshop (April 15)
- Goal Setting (final) Workshop (May 6)
RESOLUTION NO. 2025-121 these updates are set forth in the 2025 Strategic Plan
- Capital Improvements Plan Workshop (Jun 3)
- Operating Budget Workshop (Jul 22)
- Employee Health Insurance Workshop (Aug 5)
- Operating Budget Workshop (Aug 19)

Not yet posted or approved

- Goal setting Workshop (March 12 & 13)

I wonder how loud it'll get if Trump could pull this off. It will be interesting. President Trump is asking everyone to share this. In three days, most people in the United States will have seen the message. This is an idea that should be passed around, regardless of political party.

The TRUMP Rules: Congressional Reform Act of 2025!

1. No Tenure / No Pension. A Congressman/woman collects a salary while in office and receives no pay when they're out of office. And no more perks go with them.
2. Congress (past, present, & future) participates in Social Security. All funds in the Congressional retirement fund move to the Social Security system immediately. All future funds flow into the Social Security system, and Congress participates with the American people. It may not be used for any other purpose.
3. Congress must purchase their own retirement plan, just as ALL Americans do.
4. Congress will no longer vote themselves a pay raise. Congressional pay will rise at the same rate as the COLA for monthly Social Security recipients minus 1% if having a budget balance deficit.
5. Congress loses their current health care system and participates in the same health care system (Medicare) as the American people.
6. Congress must equally abide by all laws they impose on the American people (i.e. NO MORE INSIDER TRADING!!!).
7. All contracts with past and present Congressmen/women are void. The American people did not make this contract with Congressmen/women. Congress made all these contracts by and for themselves. Serving in Congress is an honor and privilege, NOT a career. The Founding Fathers envisioned citizen legislators should serve their term(s), then go home and go back to work ... not get all kinds of freebies. Term limits of 2 terms and treat them like a regular citizen!
8. No More Accepting Money From any Lobbyist for anything !

JUDGE ROY MOORE'S BEAUTIFUL POEM

Some of you may be wondering what Alabama Judge Roy Moore has been doing since he was removed from the bench for refusing to remove the Ten Commandments from his courtroom wall. The following is a poem written by Judge Moore. Judge Moore was sued by the ACLU for displaying the Ten Commandments in his courtroom foyer. He has been stripped of his judgeship and now they are trying to strip his right to practice law in Alabama ! The judge's poem sums it up quite well. America? the beautiful, or so you used to be.

This says it all. May we all forward this message and offer our prayers for Judge Moore to be blessed and for America to wake up and realize what we need to do to keep OUR America the Beautiful. Pass this on and let's lift Judge Moore up in Prayer. He has stood firm and needs our support. IN GOD WE TRUST

Land of the Pilgrims' pride;
I'm glad they'll never see.
Babies piled in dumpsters,
Abortion on demand,
Oh, sweet land of liberty;
your house is on the sand.
Our children wander aimlessly poisoned by cocaine choosing to indulge their lusts, when God has said abstain
From sea to shining sea,
our Nation turns away
From the teaching of God's love and a need to always pray We've kept God in our temples, how callous we have grown.
When earth is but His footstool, and Heaven is His throne.
We've voted in a government
that's rotting at the core, Appointing Godless Judges;
who throw reason out the door,
Too soft to place a killer
in a well deserved tomb,
But brave enough to kill a baby before he leaves the womb.
You think that God's not angry, that our land's a moral slum?
How much longer will He wait before His judgment comes?
How are we to face our God,
from Whom we cannot hide?
What then is left for us to do,
but stem this evil tide?
If we who are His children,
will humbly turn and pray;
Seek His holy face
and mend our evil way:
Then God will hear from Heaven;
and forgive us of our sins,
He'll heal our sickly land and those who live within.
But, America the Beautiful,
If you don't - then you will see,
A sad but Holy God withdraw His hand from Thee..

~Judge Roy Moore~

Letter to a Volusia County Council Member

October 3, 2025

To: Jake Johansson, Member - jjohansson@volusia.org

Made attempts to reach you via the phone number you posted in your response to the e-mail of my message to you and county council on Oct 1, 2025. Advised the number 410-532-2234 was not in service on Thursday & Fridays efforts to connect. Please forward an active phone number or I would appreciate a sit down talk with you (your choice).

Should you be in the area of my home (located in the Trails North Forty. 56 Big Buck Trail Ormond Beach) I would love you to stop in as opposed to the phone conversation you expressed as worth having regarding togetherness as a team. The obvious and blatant opposition to proposals by the chair has to stop. You, of all the members serving on the county council, are a retired career officer having reached the level of Captain in the US Navy. The success of any unit under your command depended on team work to succeed. That same teamwork is necessary to making Volusia County the best in the State Of Florida.

You've been at the top and have the knowledge to make it happen. Be the leader, as only you can be, bring this council together as a team and make good things better. Make all of our residents proud of our lives living in Volusia. You'll be remembered as the can do guy as well as a hero who lead the charge, not just some guy here for the ride to achieve a political rise into state and/or federal government. Thanking you in advance for all you will do to make it happen, wishing you God's Speed.

— Thankfully and respectfully yours, Jack Blum

The Core Is Public Service

Today's America is partially due to a Congress that has yet to be acquainted with accountability. And it's not a recent ailment since this predates our grandparents. In fact, the only bright spark was during the fifties, when sessions of the House Un-American Activities Committee, HUAC, were held. Since then, selected candidates have been of a more pliable nature, so a redo of the HUAC would never again be possible!

No matter the offense, effective action is often blocked or hidden under the guise of bipartisanship. It was President Washington who warned against "the spirit of the party," for which he reasoned that they tend to dominate and become prioritized over the country.

This ineffectiveness accumulates over time so that the eventual crippling of cultural traditions and the weakening of the Constitutional adherence is attainable. One lesser example of not being so worthy of enforcement was Congress's unwritten rule, which barred headwear. Hats were carried into the chamber but never worn. Then "the squad" appeared, of which even their legitimacy of office remains in question! However, since their religious beliefs demanded headwear, this issue was best ignored. Their intent of office stands as a testament of their inherent disrespect for Congress and its standards!

Most importantly is a lack of legislation that certain events, actions or situations should require. Usually, investigative panels and committees are formed, but their proceedings end without results. Hell, Americans are still waiting over sixty years to read a conclusive report of JFK's killer! Then again, typical of our second-rate personnel was their Tonkin Gulf Resolution, legitimizing future policies from a make-believe event!

Our country could never have been created with such "do-nothings!" However, that was at a time when those in Congress were volunteer citizens who served with honesty and with the best intentions. Their expenses from serving were addressed in the form of reimbursements. Today, the same positions are filled with party selections who, once in office, work to be re-elected so that their lucrative salary continues. Along with their six-figure salaries are the perks of a guaranteed retirement and free healthcare forever!

With such reckless spending, the annual price tag for this governmental behemoth now operates with an annual interest rate of approximately one trillion American dollars! A limited government is not in session. In fact, neither is an accountable one. All this was forecast by Benjamin Franklin when warning, "In America, salaries,...are extremely low...The honor of serving the people ably and faithfully is deemed sufficient." He also said that the love of power and money is within every man; when joined, watch out!

Can we see the error of our ways? First, we need to erase one's pursuit of a career in office. This will be when "we the people" do the selecting of who they want to be their voice in Congress. Also, instilling accountability requires that the oath of office be duly enforced. This effort will also upgrade the caliber in Congress since the scoundrel will fear an ever-present Constitutional accounting! This will reduce future wannabes! From these doable actions, accountable governing will become a reassuring reality. It's always been "we the people" who began and could now again preserve our America!

California woman shares serious regrets about fleeing 'Trump's America': 'Life is so much harder'

Rosie, a California woman who hurriedly fled to Costa Rica because of President Donald Trump, now regrets leaving the country. She expressed as much in a video posted to social media that's since gone mega, mega, mega viral. In the video, Rosie urged others upset about President Trump's administration to reconsider their desire to leave. "If you're an American who's considering leaving the country to move somewhere else, make sure that the location you choose isn't based off fear and lack mentality," she said. "I regret moving to Costa Rica. It's a beautiful country, I love the nature and wildlife. But moving to a third-world country where I don't know the language, I don't have any connections, resources, or opportunities — that didn't make my life any easier by any means." "I was just so scared of what's going on in America politically that I was in fight or flight. I was like how am I going to afford to survive, how am I going to find a place to live. I was freaking out, then I came here and made my life so much harder. And now I'm trying to go back, and I just like wish I didn't leave in the first place. And it's so weird to want to move to America right now with everything that's going on, but I just left so many privileges and resources behind — and I want them back! It sucks," she added.

Philadelphia Transit Workers Strike Against Negro Workers In 1944

Time Period: 1 August 1944 to 7 August 1944

Country: United States

Location City/State/Province: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

During the first week of August 1944, employees of the Philadelphia Transit Company (PTC) effectively shut down the city's transit system, defying both the federal government and their own union. The strike, which lasted for six days and halted much of the city's war production, was in response to a PTC decision to promote eight African Americans to the position of trolley car driver. Throughout the decade leading up to this "hate strike," African Americans had demanded that the PTC hire them as bus and trolley drivers, motormen and conductors, and station cashiers. Leading up to August 1944, however, PTC refused to hire new African American employees and all of the company's 537 existing black workers were restricted to menial and backbreaking jobs in the ways and maintenance divisions. They primarily worked as porters and messengers and were not permitted to interact with the public. Many transit companies around the country employed the same discriminatory hiring practices. The PTC system, which was partly city-owned, was one of the largest transit systems in the country, carrying 2,500,000 passengers daily.

On March 14, 1944, in a hotly contested race, Philadelphia's transportation workers elected the Transport Workers Union (TWU), Local 234, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), as their official bargaining agent. During the campaign, the TWU promised to make racial equality a central pillar of contract negotiations.

Early in July 1944, the War Manpower Commission (WMC) ruled that the PTC must abide by the policies of the United States Employment Service (USES), which prohibited hiring discrimination based on race, creed or national origin. On July 7, 1944, in response to the WMC ruling, the PTC posted notices in all of its car barns, stating that it would abide by the ruling. On July 27, 1944, the PTC promoted eight of its existing African American employees to trolley car drivers. The eight began training for their new jobs that day and were to take their first training trolleys on the streets of Philadelphia on August 1.

During the week after the PTC made this announcement, the Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) started to receive reports that old PRTEU loyalists within the PTC workforce were holding meetings on company property, during which they talked about striking if African Americans were upgraded to trolley car drivers. Loyal members of the TWU were barred from participating in these meetings. The NAACP contacted PTC board chairman Dr. Arthur Mitten and inquired about these meetings. Dr. Mitten gave no response. Also, during that week, notices appeared in PTC car barns, stating that PTC employees would refuse to work alongside African Americans. Company employees also received phone calls to the same effect.

The strike began at 4 a.m. on Tuesday, August 1, 1944. Workers originally claimed that they were "too sick" to work, but soon a committee claiming to represent the strikers admitted that the work stoppage was in protest of the PTC's decision to promote the African Americans.

Racial tensions escalated throughout the day and remained high during the week-long strike. Despite the fact that Philadelphia Mayor Bernard Samuel was not avidly opposed to the strike, the city police department can be credited for maintaining order and preventing a racial riot. After the strike began, it became unsafe for African Americans to travel in some white sections of the city. The windows of white shop owners were smashed, and a group of whites driving in a black neighborhood shot a 13-year-old African American girl without warning. The highest amounts of racially motivated violence in the city occurred the night after the strike began and the following morning.

By nightfall of the first day of the strike, U.S. Army production of war materials in Philadelphia was cut in half due to the transit stoppage, and Navy production diminished by 70%. During normal operation, the PTC carried 300,000 war workers each day.

On Saturday, August 5, President Roosevelt sent 5,000 heavily armed soldiers into Philadelphia to crush the strike by whatever means necessary. The Army set up encampments in Fairmount Park and brought in ammunition, including machine guns. The troops prepared to conduct pre-enlistment medical evaluations of those PTC workers who refused to report to work. In other words, they would be drafted into the army. Also on that Saturday, the WMC issued a statement indicating that any PTC workers who did not report to work on Monday morning and who were not genuinely sick would lose their jobs. The WMC statement also indicated that workers who continued the strike on Monday would become ineligible for any other WMC jobs and would not receive unemployment compensation.

Twelve hours later, 187 of the scheduled 2,063 vehicles were in operation, but all service was halted again by midnight. PRTEU loyalists and strike leaders physically threatened the approximately 100 PTC workers who did report to work that day. Philadelphia police arrived at PTC car barns in fifty officer squadrons to protect those PTC employees who wished to work.

Also on that Saturday, four leaders of the strike, James H. McMenamin, Frank Carney, James Dixon and Frank Thompson, were arrested on federal warrants and charged with violation of the Smith-Connally Act. And that is the story of how the military came to the aid of the Black community.

So, a president can come to the aid of individual groups of people having their rights violated, yet, a multiracial task force of federal law enforcement cannot expect assistance of the national guard when they are at great harm just because politicians in that state do not like the president.

I rest my case.

Fox News Host Charlie Hurt said that Democrats “betrayed their core identity” by forcing a government shutdown

The shutdown continues after lawmakers failed to pass a temporary funding bill, triggering a federal government closure at midnight Wednesday. In an appearance on “The Ingraham Angle,” Hurt said Democrats now look “absurd” for pushing the shutdown over demands for health care concessions, especially while millions of Americans lose access to basic services during the standoff.

“The real problem here, trying to take them all very seriously, even though they have not earned getting taken seriously. You know, the whole point, the whole problem for them is for Democrats, they believe that the government is the answer to all of our problems,” Hurt told host Laura Ingraham. “And if you’re going to then turn around and shut the government down, it kind of defeats the whole purpose of what the purpose of your party is, which is that the government is the answer to all your problems.”

At the center of the dysfunction, Hurt said, is Chuck Schumer, who’s bending to pressure from the far left and scrambling to protect himself from a potential primary challenge.

“And so from the very beginning, they’re starting out kind of looking rather absurd to begin with. And then, and of course you have also playing out at the exact same time, you have all of these concerns that Chuck Schumer has about his left flank and about being concerned about AOC trying to primary him and knock him off from the left, which is a very real problem for him,” Hurt said. “And I talked to staffers in the Senate, and they all confirmed that the whole reason that Chuck Schumer is having to do all of this is because he’s worried about his left flank from AOC in New York.”

Hurt said that while Democrats flounder, President Donald Trump is likely to seize the moment and use the chaos to advance his agenda even more aggressively than he has all year.

“And you get to realize that this is all about politics, and they’re going to lose it. And Donald Trump has managed to reinvent every aspect of politics.

And I would not be surprised if he doesn't figure out how to use this shutdown to press his agenda even more forcefully than he has in the first nine months.”

Democrats have been pushing for health-related spending. Vice President JD Vance has criticized efforts to revive Biden-era programs that provided taxpayer-funded healthcare to illegal immigrants. The Trump administration ended both programs in his second term.

During a tense exchange with a reporter, Democratic California Rep. Maxine Waters suggested Tuesday that her party is pushing to secure health benefits for illegal immigrants. Democrats have also demanded more than $1 trillion for a slate of left-wing priorities beyond healthcare, including restoring funding for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, which is set to shut down after Congress rescinded its funding in a July package.

Horror Stories

"An immigration enforcement sweep in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area found widespread immigration fraud, according to the director of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

"Officers encountered blatant marriage fraud, visa overstay, people claiming to work as businesses that can't be found, forged documents, abuse of the H1B visa system, abuse of the F1 visa, and many other discrepancies," USCIS Director Joseph Edlow told reporters Tuesday, according to the New York Post.

The Twin Cities has seen a massive rise in Somali refugees and immigrants, with over 82,000 Somalians living in Minnesota.

Heartless: Dem Gov Refusing to Sign Iryna's Law That Cracks Down on Repeat Criminals, Protects Women Like Iryna Zarutka

In the modern Democratic Party, one can hardly tell the difference between cowardice, ideological capture, and pure evil. Take, for instance, Democratic Gov. Josh Stein of North Carolina.

According to the North State Journal - a newspaper serving the Tar Heel State - Stein has yet to sign House Bill 307, better known as "Iryna's Law," despite receiving the 21-page bill ten days ago.

Christian discrimination appeared at play as a couple deemed "uniquely dedicated" to fostering young children lost their license to their state's commitment to the rainbow religion.

Many have viewed the zealotry with which leftist elected officials and talking heads adhere to gender ideology as affirmation that alphabet activism has become the religion of the secular state. Now, its inability to coexist with Christian norms found a Woburn, Massachusetts couple no longer licensed to foster children for their refusal to sign a clause pre-affirming a hypothetical child's preferred identity.

"We were told you must sign the form as is or you will be delicensed," Lydia Marvin explained to WBZ-TV as she and her husband, Heath Marvin, who'd fostered eight children under the age of four since 2020, had had their license taken away by the Massachusetts Department of Children and Families (DCF).

The clause is at odds with the Christian couple's demand that they "support, respect, and affirm a foster child's sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression."

Of the 251 hostages seized in the Oct 7, 2023, Hamas raid on Southern Israel, 20 came out alive today, all men. None of the captured 76 women and girls made it out alive. This should tell you something about the moral disposition of Hamas, on top of the shockingly low number of survivors altogether. World opinion has not processed this in the heat of this moment, with the Gaza War ostensibly resolved, for now. . . or so we'll see. Soon, the captives' stories will be told.

"Congresswoman Pelosi, are you at all concerned that the January 6 Select Committee will find you liable for that day? Are you at all concerned about the January 6 Committee finding you liable for that day? Why did you refuse the National Guard on January 6?" the reporter asked. "Shut up!" Pelosi snapped. "I did not refuse the National Guard; the president didn't send it. Why are you coming here with Republican talking points as if you're a serious journalist?" Pelosi then walked away without answering the reporter's question.

I'm a conservative, but that doesn't mean what a lot of people apparently think it does. Let's break it down, because I'm tired of being told what I believe and what I stand for. Spoiler: not every conservative is the same, but most of us I know share these same principles.

- 1. I believe America should never depend on another country for energy, protection, or basic supply and demand. We are strongest when we build, produce, and protect things right here in the USA.
- 2. I believe America must put itself first. We cannot pour from an empty cup. Our country should prioritize our own people before trying to save the world.
- 3. I believe America should stay out of endless foreign conflicts. We are not the world's sugar daddy, and we shouldn't act like it.
- 4. I believe no foreign aid should be given until every veteran at home is taken care of.
- 5. I believe immigrants make America stronger — when they come legally. If your first act in this country is breaking the law, you aren't an upstanding citizen.
- 6. You can marry who you want. I may not agree with your lifestyle, but your life is not mine to judge, I leave that to God Almighty. That being said, I am a Christian and suggest everyone read and follow God's word.
- 7. I believe men are men and women are women. Surgery or hormones don't change that. Men should use men's bathrooms, and women should use women's bathrooms.
- 8. I believe schools are for education, not indoctrination. Kids should learn math, history, reading, and science - not political propaganda. They should not be taught they were "born in the wrong body" or pushed into gender delusion.
- 9. I believe America is in a mental health crisis. Mental health care is real, it matters, and it desperately needs to be addressed.
- 10. I believe guns aren't the problem - people are. Gun control only infringes on constitutional rights. But I also believe in common sense: background checks are necessary to keep firearms out of the hands of the mentally ill.

I'm a conservative because I believe in faith, family, freedom, and personal responsibility. I don't want a government that controls every aspect of our lives.

I want a government that protects our rights, secures our borders, defends our freedoms, and then gets out of the way. We are strongest when Americans take care of America first, when families are supported, when our veterans are honored, and when our children are given truth, not propaganda.

I love this country, and I believe it's worth fighting for.
